

CLIMBER CODE OF CONDUCT

WHY DOES BEHAVIOR MATTER?

Safety is our number one concern. When a coach is taking time with an athlete to discuss nonparticipation or misbehavior (such as roughhousing), there are inherently other athletes who are not getting the attention required by coaches to mitigate risk (i.e. spotting).

CLIMBER CODE OF CONDUCT

How I will be an asset to the team:

1. 100% Participation

I will demonstrate an enthusiastic desire to learn and improve my skills. I will give my best in all team activities including bouldering, rope climbing, and strength training.

2. Positive Attitude

I will treat my team members as I would like to be treated and help them attain their goals through my support and encouragement.

3. Respect

I will respect myself, my fellow team members and their parents, my coaches, and all others in the climbing community. I will arrive on time to practice, bring my required equipment, and not use a cell phone during practice.

4. Set a Good Example

Follow gym rules at all times. No running or horseplay.

5. Good Sportsmanship.

I will positively represent the team through my behavior, language, attitude, and dress.

6. Communication

My communication with my coaches, other teammates, and parents will be respectful, open, and honest.

"I will strive for my personal best, while never forgetting that the goal is to have fun!"

Signature/Fingerprint: